Dear Contestant,

Thank you for your interest in our pageant! The pageant's events consist of horsemanship, rodeo knowledge, appearance, extemporaneous questions and a personal interview.

Contestants need to also be prepared to attend required appearances for sponsors, media interviews, and the Wild West rodeo parade. The opportunity to represent the UP Championship Rodeo as queen for a year is one of Upper Michigan's highest honors. In an effort to prepare our queen, all contestants will be expected to follow all rules and regulations along with meeting each of the eligibility requirements listed. The UP Championship Rodeo Queen will also be required to attend and represent our rodeo at various events throughout the year. Contestants are required to arrive Thursday night at a time to soon be determined and attend all events throughout the weekend. Contestants will ride in all performances as well as the Wild West Rodeo Parade.

Rodeo Queen judging begins Friday July 15, 2016, and coronation will be held during the Saturday, July 16, 2016, performance. Queen contestants are showcased each performance and must be prepared for pictures, autographs and to answer questions about rodeo rules and history, as well as getting to know the UP Championship Rodeo fans. We encourage you to get to know the other contestants and make new friends.

A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to the 2016 Miss UP Rodeo.

Please read the following rules, complete and sign the application forms and contract, and submit your required entry fee as soon as possible. We look forward to meeting you.

The UP Championship Rodeo Queen will be chosen based on 4 categories:

Horsemanship
Rodeo knowledge
Public Relations
Appearance

HORSEMANSHIP APPEARANCE:

Western attire of your choice. Sequins, leather, embellishments, rhinestones, embroidery, etc. are all welcomed. Only western-style jeans should be worn during the pageant. Chaps are not permitted during the horsemanship contest.

INSIDE APPEARANCE:

Dress attire is encouraged, but not required, during the extemporaneous questions and personal interviews. Skirts, blouses, jackets, dresses, vests and accessories such as belts, buckles, hats, and boots should all be a western style. A variety of sleeve lengths and collar styles are allowed. Sleeveless or revealing necklines are not permissible. Blouses should be a western, long-sleeved style.

A final note on appearance: Each time the contestants meet with the judges, they will be judged on their appearance. This includes grooming of hair, nails, and makeup; fit, color, and coordination of clothing; and, in general, overall appearance. Attention to detail is vital. Points will be tallied throughout the competition to determine the winner of this category.

HORSEMANSHIP:

Each contestant is required to ride a horse in a horsemanship competition. This pattern will be given to the contestants when their application is received. In addition to the patterns, judges will conduct a brief interview with each contestant, testing their knowledge of horsemanship, horse anatomy, tack and its uses, and common equine health (wellness, illnesses, soundness issues, etc.). Contestants will also be judged on their ability to handle their horses during the parade and rodeo performances.

Additionally, contestants will be required to make their own pattern which they will perform on another contestant's horse. (Time limit of 2 minutes.) This will be drawn at random prior to the horsemanship competition.

PUBLIC RELATIONS:

Because a rodeo queen represents her rodeo throughout its market area, public speaking is an intrinsic and vital part of the competition. Contestants will compete in two different events which contribute to this category: two extemporaneous questions and a slightly lengthier (1-2 minutes) impromptu response. Neither portion requires any memorized speech, but rather calls on a contestant's ability to think on her feet and interact with the public in a tactful and graceful manner. Developing a strong knowledge of the sport of rodeo is the best way to prepare for this portion of the competition; contestants may be asked to give their personal opinions on various topics.

PERSONALITY:

Each contestant will be judged on personality throughout the entire pageant; however, judges will also conduct personal interviews with each contestant that will contribute to this category. Interviews allow the judges to evaluate each contestant in a way that reflects how they might handle situations with rodeo fans, sponsors, or anyone else they might come in contact with should they win the title of Miss UP Rodeo. Points of focus will be on a contestant's ability to interact with a group, manners, sense of humor, attitude, maturity, poise, etc. The judges will look for a contestant who is sincere, intelligent, and confident. Points will be tallied throughout the competition to determine the winner of this category.

PAGEANT OBJECTIVE

The objective of the 2016 Miss UP Rodeo Pageant is to find a girl with excellent public relation skills while interacting with the public who also possesses horsemanship skills and will represent the UP Championship Rodeo and its affiliates in a dignified and honorable manner. If you have any questions, please feel free to call or email Brooke Granquist at (906) 280-5823 or granquist50@hotmail.com.
